"Creating Entertainment and Automation Solutions"

Even the good guys need help!!

"you created a system that is simple to use."

Bob has lived in his home for many years, raised his family and developed a hobby of building his own home entertainment centers and house audio for parties and events for his kids and family gatherings.

Being that do-it-yourself audio and video enthusiast, we were quiet impressed with his creation and thought process.

With the new additions Bob and his family received for Christmas (X-Box, BluRay DVD etc...) Bob finally admitted he needed help from an expert.

Thanks to our talented staff of designers and installers, Bob and his family now enjoy a high-definition flat-panel TV and Surround Sound that looks and sounds magnificent! And both are very much in place with the room's décor.
Not a wire in sight!

Bob's wife loves to show off her favorite part of the system – a wireless touchscreen controller with a button marked "Listen". With one touch, she can play her favorite music list on their new iPod dock discretely located on the kitchen counter.

"I love our new Blue ray and it's now so easy to get great music anywhere I want for parties or general listening. Downstairs or upstairs, inside or out, your team not only created a great system for us, they made it simple to use. Most of all, your prices were fair and you finished the job on time and actually under budget."

"It's my nature to be cost conscious so I've done my own video and audio over the years. Everything is becoming a lot more complex and I sincerely appreciated not only your expertise but the fact that you recommended keeping nearly all my existing equipment and only adding what was necessary. You're a trusted expert, not a clueless salesman. Best of all you finished the job while I was at work allowing me to come home and have everything we agreed upon completed in flawless fashion. Thank you John!"
